- Q. How much time have you spent 10 preparing for your deposition today?
 - A. Approximately 90 hours.
- 12 Q. And how did you prepare for ¹³ your deposition?
- 14 A. I spent a long time going back over my report, re-reading it, ¹⁶ making sure that I understood what I had written, looking at the documents that --¹⁸ that were underlying it.
- 19 Basically, understanding how ²⁰ the deposition process works, because as you pointed out, I have not been deposed ²² before.

- Q. Now, you list quite a few documents in your reports. How did you choose which documents to review, particularly from the defendants?
- 23 A. I followed the same uniform approach, as I said to you before. I

Page 23

- Page 25 ¹ followed the same uniform approach that I
 - ² do when I do any kind of a compliance
 - ³ investigation, or compliance assessment.
 - I use the federal sentencing guidelines as my sort of framework. And
 - I asked counsel, in this case, serving
 - ⁷ like I would a client, I need documents
 - ⁸ in these particular areas, could you
 - please provide me with information that
- relates to these particular areas. And
- they provided me with those documents.
- If I was unclear or I didn't get exactly -- it is an iterative
- process. So if I was unclear or I didn't
- get what I was looking for, I asked
- further follow-up questions. I asked for
- further information. Once I got that
- information, I then reviewed it.
- 19 Q. What were the original categories of documents that you requested from plaintiffs' counsel?
- 22 A. We can turn to my report and we can go down the eight elements of the ²⁴ federal sentencing guidelines if you'd

- A. I prepared both, both on my

- 3 Q. Which counsel did you meet with to prepare for today's deposition?
- A. Certainly the three gentlemen that are here. And again, I
- ⁷ don't have a complete list of everybody else I've met with.
- Q. Do you recall how many meetings you had with counsel in preparation for today's deposition?
- 12 A. My recollection we were --¹³ there were seven, somewhere between seven and nine, something like that.
- 15 Q. And about how long were these meetings?
- 17 A. They varied in length from, 18 you know, half a day to a couple hours.
- Q. So in preparation for ²⁰ today's deposition, you mentioned a few ²¹ things you reviewed. You reviewed your

O. You are a licensed food and drug attorney?

A. I practice my specialty is ⁴ food and drug.

- Q. And you have a doctorate in health law?
- A. I do, from Widener University as we just discussed.
- Q. The next sentence reads, ¹⁰ "His forte is designing, building and ¹¹ running life science compliance programs 12 from a 'blank sheet of paper.'" 13

Did I read that correctly?

- 14 A. You did.
- 15 O. And is that statement 16 accurate?
- 17 A. Yeah, I think it's an accurate statement.
- 19 O. The statement does not include the words wholesale pharmaceutical distributors, correct?
- 22 A. No, sir, it does not.
- 23 Q. It does not include DEA ²⁴ compliance programs, correct?

- 12 Q. Now, do sample and sample capacity programs and PDMA compliance programs, do -- do those -- do those programs use 21 U.S.C. 823? 16

MR. BOGLE: Object to form. You can answer if you understand. THE WITNESS: I'm not sure I understand the question that he's asking.

BY MR. EPPICH:

Q. Well, do those programs, are ²³ they governed by the Controlled

²⁴ Substances Act and its affiliated

17

18

A. DEA compliance programs, as ² we will -- as noted in my report, are a ³ subset of the larger corporate compliance ⁴ program.

5 So you have a corporate ⁶ compliance program. You have an ⁷ anti-diversion program under that. You ⁸ have a suspicious order monitoring program under that. So it's all sort of a ¹¹ subsumed in the bigger picture. We are talking compliance, we are talking 13 compliance with all laws and regulations, ¹⁴ the systems and processes designed at the 15 corporate level. Q. Have you designed a DEA compliance program before?

18 A. I have not designed a DEA 19 compliance program in the sense of a controlled substances. I have designed a 21 sample and sample accountability PDMA ²² compliance programs. As you know, those ²³ are substantially similar programs. You ²⁴ need to know who you are selling -- you

¹ regulations?

A. Only if you're dropping ³ samples under a -- only if you're

⁴ dropping controlled substances samples,

⁵ then yes, it would apply. If you're not dropping controlled substances samples,

the answer is no, it would not apply.

Q. Do either of those programs use suspicious order monitoring programs as defined by the Controlled Substances Act and its affiliated regulations?

A. Again, back to my original answer, if you're dropping controlled substances samples, you would need to comply with the suspicious order monitoring requirements, as well as the PDMA requirements. And if you're dropping non controlled substances, then the answer would be you do not need to comply.

21 Q. And did -- did any of the programs that you designed drop sample -controlled substances into them? 24

Not that --

What the section actually 19 says is, if you're shipping a controlled

²⁰ substance to the person, you need to make

²¹ a good faith inquiry that the person

²² receiving it has a valid registration.

²³ So if you're a manufacturer shipping a

²⁴ bulk shipment to a distributor, they're

¹ pulled. Is it getting -- are there

² enforcement actions to pull that license.

³ You know, are there reasons, other

⁴ reasons beyond just looking for the

⁵ registration, per se, that would lead you

⁶ to conclude that you probably don't want

⁷ to ship the substances without further inquiry at this time.

Q. And where in the statute does it say that -- strike that.

11 Where in the registration does it say that a registrant must look to other --

14 A. It doesn't say it in the actual section. So let's be clear.

¹⁶ Where it comes from is the statute, as you started to say, that you have to have an effective anti-diversion program. So you need to understand where your product is going, including whether or not you ²¹ have a valid registration. It's part of ²² the larger statutory obligation to

²³ maintain an effective anti-diversion

²⁴ program.

Page 127

Q. Thank you for that ⁵ clarification. You're absolutely right.

The Subsection (a) requires ⁷ the registrant to check for a valid registration, correct?

A. That's what it says -- says ¹⁰ there, yes.

Q. And that -- that's what you 12 mean when you state, "The customer must ¹³ be known to determine that the customer

¹⁴ can lawfully receive the shipment." You mean that the registrant needs to check

¹⁶ the registration, correct? 17

A. Among other things, yes.

¹⁸ But that's what I'm citing to in

¹⁹ particular there, yes. If you don't know

²⁰ who you're shipping to, how can you check ²¹ a registration?

22 Q. You mentioned "among other

²³ things." What other things? 24

A. Has their license been

Q. The next requirement that

A. I did.

Q. And then you cite to 21

C.F.R. 1301.74(b) for that -- for support, correct?

A. Mm-hmm.

Q. Are there any other sources that you would cite for this requirement?

A. Well, we did talk about the statute. So we go back to the statute of

¹³ what is an effective anti-diversion program. I'm sure we can go through lots and lots of the guidance, if you want to go through -- spend time going through each and every letter that the DEA has written for guidance.

But those are the two

²⁰ things, like the Rannazzisi letters, that come to mind -- top of mind. But no, I do not have a complete and exhaustive

Q. In the first sentence on this page, your report states, "The DEA

¹⁸ created the Chemical Handler's Manual in 19 response to the enactment of the various

²⁰ chemical control laws amending the ²¹ original CSA, but also to provide general ²² guidance on complying with the CSA.

23 Did I read that correctly?

A. Yes, you did.

¹ that was the formula that was listed and stated in the manual as being voluntary.

Q. And you agree that a factor

⁴ of three that's discussed was also voluntary, correct?

A. I believe that the factor of ⁷ three that we're talking about was ⁸ voluntary in regard to List I chemicals contained List I chemicals yes.

Q. Now, in looking at the third paragraph of your report, on Page 17. In the second and third sentences, you 14 state, "A plain reading of Appendix E-3,

is that if a Schedule II or III

¹⁶ controlled substance does not contain a List I chemical, that factor is not applicable. Therefore, for opioid products not containing a List I chemical, that factor is not applicable." 21

Did I read that correctly?

A. Yes, you did.

 - Q. You're -- sitting here

19 Do you see that, sir?

20 A. I do.

21 O. How is unusual size, as ²² written in the regulation, clear, but the use of "significantly larger" in ²⁴ Cardinal's policy unclear?

Page 306

A. Well, the regulation was

² drafted for every registrant and it was ³ drafted for every customer out there. So

⁴ it is a very broad standard.

In the case of Cardinal,

⁶ Cardinal is supposed to know their

⁷ customers and should be able to say what

⁸ does that mean in context of Cardinal's

customers and provide at least some level

¹⁰ of granularity and criteria around it.

11 Q. Sir, how is deviating ¹² substantially as written in the 13 suspicious order regulation clear, but

¹⁴ Cardinal's use of significant deviation

15 unclear?

16 A. I think we're going to have

¹⁷ the same conversation. But we'll go back

18 to it, which is, again, we're talking

¹⁹ about a regulation that is written for ²⁰ all registrants, all customers. In this

²¹ case we're talking about Cardinal and

²² Cardinal knowing Cardinal's customers and

²³ being able to make some judgments based

²⁴ on what they know about their customers.

Page 307

Q. And finally, sir, how is

² unusual frequency as written in the ³ suspicious order regulation clear but

⁴ significantly more frequently as used in

⁵ Cardinal's policy unclear?

A. Well, again, back to the ⁷ original answer. We'll just do it in a

⁸ slightly different context, we're talking

⁹ about a regulation that's driven and

¹⁰ written for all registrants and all

¹¹ customers. And again, in this particular

12 case we are talking about a subset,

¹³ Cardinal's customers. Cardinal having

¹⁴ knowledge of Cardinal's customers should

¹⁵ be able to define what that means, based

¹⁶ on Cardinal's customers.

17

Q. Let's turn to Page 48 of your report.

19 A. Page 48, you said? Is that correct, Chris?

Q. Yes, sir. Page 48.

22 A. Okay. I'm here.

Q. On Page 48, in Section 8.4, which you've titled "An Integrated

¹ Ecosystem," and in the last paragraph on ² Page 48 you write, "Therefore, because

³ the closed system is an ecosystem, any

⁴ examination should look at the operation

⁵ of the full ecosystem as well as the individual parts. Euclid Family

Pharmacy, and CVS Stores 3322 and 4800

provide excellent examples to do so."

Do you see that, sir?

A. I do.

11 Q. What is your source for the concept of a, quote, integrated ecosystem?

10

14

A. I think it follows what we're talking about, what a closed loop system. Everybody has a role to play in the closed loop system. And the point that I was making here around the ecosystem is the fact that it is possible

²⁰ to work with multiple players. And if 21 you want to look at the "know your customer" concept, you need to look at 23 the entire -- you just don't look at

²⁴ yourself in isolation. You look at all

Page 309

¹ the facts and circumstances and totality

² that you have.

Q. And so is it your opinion,

⁴ sir, that the closed system of drug

⁵ distribution is an example of an integrated ecosystem?

A. I believe the closed loop system is an ecosystem in and of itself,

yes.

13

10 Q. And that's based on your years of experience and knowledge in this field, sir?

A. It's based on my experience and knowledge in this field, yes, sir.

Q. Now, you offer opinions on three stores for your discussion on the integrated ecosystem, Euclid Family

Pharmacy, CVS Store 3322 and CVS Store

various suspicious orders.

Q. Am I correct that the documents that you reviewed were provided to you by the plaintiffs' counsel?

A. In request to my asking for documents -- again, using the federal sentencing guideline framework, I asked for, show me documents around standard operating procedures, training, education. I asked for a lot of documents. And, yes, they were provided by counsel.

- Is that the kind of thing

 - A. I wouldn't say I rated you
- ⁹ on -- I wouldn't rate -- rated you

 - A. Not of the entire section.
- Are you asking of the executive section?
- 10 Q. I'm -- I'm trying to get a

 - A. Sure.
- 13 Q. And this executive summary

 - A. That's a fair assessment,
- 18 yes.
